A ground-breaking new book

Integrating ethics, social responsibility and governance

Edited by Miriam Kennet, Michelle Gale de Oliveira, Professor Michael Benfield and Tore Audin Hedin.

by the Green Economics Institute

Today many people are feeling lost after 50 years of materialist culture and are beginning to seek out ethics and a feeling of justice and belonging. This unique book aims to demystify talk about ethics and philosophy and make it accessible and usable for everyone!

This book explains the main features of ethics and the implications & also how it needs can help inform change.

This book looks at how ethics innovations and historical ideas can help with today's problems and how they can be implemented.

ISBN: 978-1-907543395

Approximately 300 pages are packed with ethics perspectives from around the world, from China to South America how ethics affects everyone on the planet.

- The book explores the link between our place in nature and the environment and our ethical perspectives
- The book provides contemporary and latest views on ethics, social responsibility including corporate social responsibility, and governance and a discussion of the many and diverse ways of how its delivered in many parts of the world.
- Published by The Green Economics Institute www.greeneconomics.org.uk

Book chapters from authors from around the world

To order this book Email: greeneconomicsinstitute@yahoo.com and GEIBooksandjournal@yahoo.co.uk

Price P £65.00 plus Postage and Packing

Exciting Introductory offers, discounts and options available
Launch at our Oxford University Conference on July 9th 10th 11th 2014

This book brings innovations in ethics and governance to a broader group of readers, students, policy makers, academics and campaigners in this ground breaking volume.

Editor’s Biographies

Professor Michael Benfield has been a delegate to UNCTAD for the Commonwealth Human Ecology Council, a Founder Member of the Community Land Trust, and advisor to the trustees of the Walter Segal Self-Build Trust, which promotes the use of timber frame structures for low-cost self-build housing and other community structures. As a member of the Faculty of Building’s prestigious Low Cost Housing Committee he presaged many of the sustainable building issues now coming to the fore. He is one of the four co-founders of the People Party which is what is now the international Green Party and movement. Professor Benfield is a frequent speaker at environmental, timber, construction and housing-orientated events, nationally and internationally.He is former chair of the UK TFA’s Construction Industry Training Committee and currently serves as a board member of the national New Homes Marketing Board, the Home Builder’s Federation (Wales) executive, the Wales Forest Business Partnership and Wood Knowledge Wales, which he chairs. He is also managing director of the Benfield ATT Group (Advanced Timber-Frame Technology), Chartered Building Consultants and Chartered Surveyors, who design, manufactures and build engineered timber frame structures for housing, schools, leisure, hospitality, health care, etc. and provide ‘one stop’ professional services for timber-frame projects.

Dr Tore Audun Høie has published 5 books, and is now working on new book on Nordic Management. One book received a national prize in 2006. Participating in a political project to “create the best school system in the world.” Guest lectures in technology in nursing. Experience from consulting in more than 50 organisations. PhD computer science, HND management, BSc(Hons)civil engineering. He writes especially on ethics.

Miriam Kennet has just visited Athens on a fact finding visit. She is the Director and Co-founder of the Green Economics Institute. She is a graduate member of the Environmental Change Institute, Oxford University where she took courses on Ethics. She has spoken on Ethics and Corporate Social Responsibility including at the Oxford Union and at Leeds University. She is the editor and author of 100s of articles, book chapters and books in many languages. Miriam recently was named as one of the 100 most powerful women making change globally by a leading poverty charity in London. She is the founder and Director of The Green Economics Institute and the International Journal of Green Economics and was keynote speaker at the Northern Area of the National Health Service in November 2012 discussing Healthcare and Well Being.

Michelle S. Gale de Oliveira (USA and Brazil) a director of the Green Economics Institute, UK & a member of the Law School of the University of London School of Oriental and African Studies (SOAS), and a specialist in Human Rights Law, Peace-Building, and Developing Countries. Founder of the Gender Progress Consortium. Her writing has been featured in Europe’s World, one of the foremost European policy magazines. She lectures and speaks regularly in Africa, Europe, and Latin America. She has led delegations to the Kyoto Climate Change Conference of Parties (COP15/16) in Copenhagen and Cancun and the RIO+20, United Nations Sustainable Development Conference, where she ran three popular side events on green economics.