Topics being addressed at our Methodology event:
To Rebalance and Reform Finance, Banking, Economics and the Economy.
To halt the rolling Tide of Climate Change, Halt the Mass Extinction of Species, Prevent Poverty and create an inclusive future looking economy for the benefit of all the world’s people, nature, other species and the planet.
To challenge the narrow scope, core and assumptions of mainstream economics and use holistic, inclusive and interdisciplinary explanations, instruments, and tools.
To found an inclusive, and progressive economics discipline based equally on environmental and social justice and on diversity which comfortably includes data and learning from other disciplines. We have managed to do this in the first 10 years of the Institute.

We return to the fundamentals, basing economics on oikia, which means household or estate management. Indeed, the Earth is the household on which we all depend.

The four pillars of Green Economics
Policymaking, Campaigning, Business, Academic

Challenges we face ahead: The world is undergoing social and environmental change and a global shift in power. Wealth is accumulating in fewer hands. Democracy is under threat. Globalisation has led to production being mainly in sweatshops in the East. The European Economy has been hollowed out.

The Green Economics Institute is an independent, international, networking body, working on the core philosophies of economics & ecological reality.

International Reach
Truly international in its scope, we have attendees from our Global Network in about 48 countries which is growing all the time, including Turkey and Korea, India, Malaysia, China, Bangladesh, Brazil and Bhutan, Ethiopia, Lithuania and other countries. Participants will include Students, professors, policy makers, NGOs, CEOs, and economists, environmentalists, greens, and change makers, including Nobel Prize winning Economists and anyone concerned with social and environmental justice.

The Green Economics Institute is an incorporated Not-For-Profit company founded in 2004.
