This book is selling out fast- it brings together a really innovative selection of writers and explains Green Economics and how it relates to Macro Economic and Micro Economic Theories. It comes from a new stable of innovative thinkers, who are now influencing main stream debate. This is probably the only book available which gives a reasonably complete picture of a new kind of thinking and the new paradigm of the fast developing discipline of Green Economics.

Prof. Andrew Dobson, Green Political Thought, Open University

"Andrew Dobson's highly acclaimed introduction to green political thought is now available in a new edition. It has been fully revised and up-dated to take into account those areas that have grown in importance since the last edition was published. The third edition will include:

*a comparison of ecologism with other principal modern ideologies, such as liberalism, conservatism, fascism, socialism, feminism and anarchism;*an assessment of the relationship between green thinking and democracy, justice and citizenship; *an exploration of "sustainable development" addressing the fundamental question of "what to sustain?";

*real environmental problems and how green thinking is related to them.

Andrew Dobson, The Green Reader (ed), Essays Toward a Sustainable Society,

"The Green Reader is a treasury of the thinking that can spare people from the New World Disorder toward which we are now headed."

"Green politics is more than nature conservation. It begins with environmental problems but it does not end with them. It seeks the reasons for environmental degradation and finds them in the politics and economics of growth - precisely the politics and economics pursued by virtually every society on the planet. "Among the writers represented are Rachel Carson, E.F. Schumacher, Kirkpatrick Sale, Aldous Huxley, Aldo Leopold, Brian Tokar, Vandana Shiva, and Denis Owen.
